James Hord and Fred Crisemon, hus-bands of the two colored women already in jail on the charge of robbing a man named Jones of 300 on Franklin avenue Friday night, were arrested last night by Bergt. Heunel and Officer Williams as parties to the crime. It is alleged that Jones was in the company of the two women in a resort when the husbands suddenly appeared on the scene and forcibly reliaved the white man of his money.

The warm sun yesterday made short work of the snow, and by night most of the magnificent bianket of white that fell the night before was melted and running down the gutters in the form of dirty black water. It was one of the heaviest snows of the year and was quite general over this part of Utah. In the morning the street railway people had trouble, as the snow was so heavy that it was only with the greatest difficulty the car with the snow plough could be forced through. Some of the lines were not open till the middle of the forencen, to the great inconvenience of the people who depend on this mode of getting down town, but by night the greator part of the snow had entirely disappeared from the streets, although the mountains to the east and southwest were still heavily covered.

Within the past few days, however, a triend of Prothero's father has written to the law firm of Stephens & Smith from Wisconsin inclosing a sealed letter to Prothero himself. In the communication to the attorneys it was said that Prothero's parents were worthy and respected people, though in straightened circumstances. PREPARES TO ENTERTAIN WIRE WORKERS

WORK IN PROGRESS

ON SALIDA CUT-OFF

It looks now as if the big engines on the Denver & Rio Grands would soon be running into Salina and this place would succeed Manti as a transfer station, says the Salina Sun. Last Monday a gang of laborers began laying heavy rails on the Sanpete branch, south of Willow Creek, seven miles north of Salina, under instructions to push the work through to Salina. It looks as if there would be something doing on the Salina cut-off next spring.

The ordinance which Councilman Hartenstein will introduce in the Council at the instigation of Mayor Morris, the purpose of which is said to take from the Council the power of interference with the Mayor in the distribution of patron age, has led to so much discussion that it is printed herewith in full.
